

From: Michael Warnock
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/23/02 2:38pm
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Having only skimmed the PFJ, I cannot make a comprehensive comment on it, but i can tell right off that the definitions are far too narrow to do any good. Specifically the definitions of windows and API prevent any of the provisions from affecting the emerging markets, like ASP(.net), handhelds, webpads and set tops (x-box)
I'm sure emotional plees are being ignored in general, but I'd like to mention that im typing this despite the pain of a fresh and rather deep wound at the base of one of my fingers. This settlement is too important for the future of the country, tech industry and even human race for me to hope that the other informed people making comments will outnumber those who microsoft paid to compose wordy snail mail.
Please act out of responsibility to the common american.

Michael Warnock - Artificial Life Programmer - InOrbit Entertainment
Total hard disk crash - O pestilence!
Now is the winter of our disk contents!